

5.8)

6.4) - Software Architecture represents a point of common understanding that all system stakeholders can use to understand/negotiate.

- its the earliest point to decide on design decisions to the system.